

Billie Chloe Wray

June 17, 1937 - October 22, 2013

Billings, Montana

Dear Friends & Family,

I have already left this world, but I wanted to personally tell each of you how you have touched my life in special ways. Your smiles, hugs and support meant more than I can tell you. If you have given me flowers, told me a joke/story or shared yourself in another way you have given me great joy. I know my life was richer for having known you and I hope you can say the same about knowing me.

I am a Montana native who studied, worked and lived all my life here. I feel very proud of my family my work and the life goals Ive reached here in the Big Sky country.

I leave behind me my sons family Lance (Lesli) Dillon of Bellingham, WA, granddaughters Erin (Korey) White, Jessica (Josh) Johnson, great grandchildren Emma & Eden Johnson, Cohen, Callie & Cason White, my daughter Laura Dillon of San Pedro, CA, brother Brian (Jeannie) Wray, sister Tana (Greg) Greene, sister-in-law Cheryl Schweigert, and many nieces and nephews of Kalispell, MT. My long-time friend Mary Ann Zook of Livingston, MT and my special partner Ray Weishaar of Laurel, MT who both were a big part of my life.

“ Billie, you were my counselor, my anger management teacher and a dear woman to me. When you got Cancer, I cried out during management class when you told us. I felt this was the beginning of the end, I couldn't help it. You were surprised at my reaction. My boyfriend and I tried to help around the yard. You allowed me to come into your home and admire all your art, the loom, and collectables. The pets became more comfortable with me. I wanted to help you more than I actually could. When I left Billings in 2005, I couldn't bear to say anything to you. Even though you hadn't been my counselor for a good while, you were the only person in Billings worth anything to me and I couldn't handle it. It has taken me until now, January 27th 2021, to look for you. You were that dear to me. It's odd, you passed away on my birthday. I'm glad you're in Heaven feeling great! I hope to see you there. God blessed me when he put you in my path.
