“ This has been the hardest thing ever to accept in life losing a child. Even worse that you were in so much pain losing your friends then before losing your mom then your Boyfriend. Everything hit me Today in particular because I finally talked to Armani and he had so much love & respect for you it was his first time reaching out since you left us .. Your brother & sister love & miss you so freaking much Cordelia . I worry about Ashton the most .. I just cannot believe you would have did this I am in disbelief .. I come to terms that it's not my job to question when or if it's someone's time to go on beyond this earth. But I really hope you know how much we love you Cordelia Alice . I always had nightmares about being so far away & something happening to one of you kids. You kids are my world.. I hope that you know that ? You were mine and your moms love child You were always special .. I have no one to talk to about my problems anymore.. you would Call me everyday and I am Sorry sometimes I felt weak to talk to didn't know how to take on things but I never meant for it to push you away or for you to not feel Loved or Wanted and no I never used what was yours to benefit myself .. I know the world felt so heavy losing everything and everyone in your world... I hated so much that Jaydon wouldn't swallow his pride and just let you love him And stay home with you ... you deserved a long life and I wanted you to be a mom and have grand babies and grow old & watch over your siblings ... I am here to say I love you Cordelia and I miss you so freaking much that it hurts today ... sitting in my car at work crying because you deserved a long life .. none of that bad stuff shoulda never happened to you .. I Always first wanted to protect you from the bad people and the bad stuff in this world.. why I wanted you to stay home not take off and run away... you were too far beyond your years .. I love you Cordelia Alice .. love always your Dad
