“ I played basketball with Ernie for a dozen or so years at Carver gym. He was a great friend and an avid competitor, with moves that only an experienced “gym rat” could make. But above all, he was a kind and gentle soul who enjoyed the on- and off-court friendships as much as he enjoyed playing basketball. I will miss hi deeply, and I send my deepest condolences to Ernie’s family and friends.

“ Remembering Ernie from years (decades) of noon-time basketball at Carver Gym at Western. One time I asked him the secret to playing hoop at such an elder age. He smiled and said, “Simple. Never get hurt and never stop.” His fade away jumper went in at an amazingly high level. His intrinsic love of the game (and the noon-ball scene at Western) was always palpable, as was the warmth of his greetings after I returned to the court after being out of town (or out with an injury) for an an extended period. Always a pleasure to see Ernie. Sending my condolences to the family, which I see runs many generations deep now.
