Frank Wayne Clouse born on September 2nd 1948, married wife of forty years, Pamela Kay Simpson in Spokane Washington on April 2nd, 1976. Frank passed away from a heart attack in Lynden, Washington on April 3rd, 2016 and is survived by his wife Pamela, his three children Chad, Christopher and Jennifer as well as his four grandchildren Jasper, Jayna, Grace and Adeline. Frank's smile consistently shone as big as his heart. His entire being radiated the love he harbored as a husband, father and friend. With every smile, every strong hug, every joke, everything he built, his love emanated and even grew. And the pure excitement and pride he felt expressing his love inspired each one of us to grow, expand and experience the sheer joy of such deep love and connection. His commitment to the ones he loved was wired into his being. In any picture of him you can see the pride and excitement he felt being so connected to the ones he loved, making every place we were together special. You can hear his voice saying, "This is good." Frank loved the journey, he loved driving with his wife without destination. He loved kayaking, biking, woodworking, exploring, food, the outdoors. He loved building, going for long walks, photography, nature, playing with his grandchildren. Frank was a good husband, father, grandpa, Papa and friend. He was a good man. You will be missed and remembered always.
