“ I was sad to see this morning in the Bellingham Herald that Tristan had passed away. I first met Tristan when his son, TJ, played baseball with my son , Wade. TJ was 10 and Wade was 9. He never missed any of TJ's games. He also worked for me as a salesman, selling cars. I noticed that every time he helped a customer, he would sell them a car. It was so unbelievable because I had never seen this happen before. I watched him very carefully and I realized he was a very nice, honest, caring, genuine, credible person. People really liked him and trusted him. I haven't seen Tristan for a few years. He used to come into my office to say “hello” occasionally. My condolences go out to Yvonne and the kids for such a sudden and great loss.
